SPIRITUALISM EXPOSED.

In consequence of the enormous success of M. HARTZ'S last great sensation EXPOSING THE HUMBUGS OF SPIRIFUAL MANIFESTATIONS, he will appear at ROBINSON HALL, Sixteenth street, for two weeks, commencing December 22, where he will introduce those marvellous feats that have gained him the title of the Anti-Spiritual Champion. M. Hartz having received by mail theories respecting the method of performing the SACK TRICK, some of which are correct, has invented something new in its place, which is so mysterious that it will be simply imposible for any one to give a practicable solution. He is now exhibiting it at the Athenaeum, Brooklyn, in connection with the Indian Box, and in future will be known as the INDIAN BOX AND SPIRIFUAL BASKET (copyright). The new mystery is as follows:—A common board three quarters of an inch thick and 39 inches square, similar to a mason's mortar board, is thoroughly examined. The assistant, or so-called medium, will sit on it cross-legged, and will be covered with an iron-bound basket cone, so small that it will not go over him if he sits in any other position. This basket is first rigorously inspected by any one wishing to do so, and is then placed over the medium by persons from the audience, and padhecked to the board by locks provided by those persons or by any of the sub of the subset of the subset of the interval of the sits in any other position. This basket is first rigorously inspected by any one wishing to do so, and is then placed over the medium by persons from the audience, and padhecked to the board by locks provided by those persons or by any of the subset of th or, THE CONSPIGACY.

Onlines of the bress.

"So great and lotty a character as that of the Cardinal Richelieu must be portrayed by a great master. Mr. McChilouth was closely observed by the large audience present. It was an audience well qualified to criticles, for the most latelligent of our citizens were present, and among them many who had been accustomed to witness the impersionations of Forrest and Booth. But the general application of the frequent demonstrations of delight in each act were evidence that the actor lost nothing by close scrutiny. In Richelieu, as in all the great characters Mr. McCullough has yet assumed, he displays originality in the manner of reading. Calminess and self-possession characterize all that he does. Whenever occasion requires it be rises in strength of voice and in physical action to a power almost sublime."—St. Louis Globe.

"Mr. McCullough's Richelieu, as given by him last night at Wall's Opera Hous, was a masterpiece of acting. He was ealed before the curtain at the conclusion ocach act by the appanes of his deligited audience. He articulation is most perfect, and when either in the distinctly heard. He carriers is sufficient to sort of magnetism, and it seems that his listeners and audience are so impressed that they cannot, if they want to, turn their attention from his acting."—Washington Critic.
